On the module quizzes, the students will have two opportunities to accomplish the task. That is, they can take the Quiz twice with review time and review material provided. The better of the two grades will be posted to the gradebook.

Tests/Exams

Summative assessments will occur in the middle and at the end of the term. There is a mid-term exam in the middle of the semester and a final examination during the last week of the term.

Required Instructional Materials: Required Textbook(s)

The Lumen Epub (similar to an Ebook) and platform is included in the price of the tuition and is imbedded in the course as soon as it opens in Blackboard. The Epub contains the textbook information, grammar exercises, practice tests, instructions, videos, and the assessments (quizzes) and exams. You will need to know how to access your Blackboard course at NTCC. No other textbook is required for this course because you will access the entire course through Blackboard.

Optional Instructional Materials: Spanish/English print or digital dictionary of your choice.

Minimum Technology Requirements

The syllabus, course materials, and the gradebook will be available online via Blackboard. Students will need dependable internet service to keep up with this course. In case they do not have dependable service at home, they should be able to get good service by coming to campus to complete online coursework.

Required Computer Literacy Skills

Students need to know how to operate in Blackboard, how to access material on the internet, and be able to record voice messages and videos and send them through Blackboard.

Course Structure and Overview: This course is a fully online course. Read the Start Here folder for an explanation of how to navigate this platform. Additional personal study time will be necessary for most students depending on experience with Spanish language learning. Feel free to study with a partner but take the quizzes and exams on your own (see Honesty Policy.)

Communications

NTCC uses the college email system as the official form of communication for all matters. Students may communicate with me at msvirskaotero@ntcc.edu or contact me through Microsoft Teams or Blackboard messages. All questions or other needs for information will receive a response within 24-48 hours. The fastest way to reach me is through Microsoft Teams. Students are encouraged to check their NTCC email daily.

Withdrawal from the course

If you wish to withdraw from the course, you must do so by the published deadline.

Other Course Requirements

Dates are critical in this online portion of the course. Make sure you keep up with the work. Learning a new language is a cumulative process. Study and practice every day.

Student Responsibilities/Expectations

Be diligent in your daily study time; complete the Study Plans, activities, discussions, and quizzes in a timely manner. Blackboard will track all your submissions with time and date.

Academic Language

SPAN 1411 is an academic course. When writing, please observe the traditional academic rules that include but are not limited to writing in complete sentences, starting each sentence with a capital letter, ending a sentence with appropriate punctuation, using punctuation marks within sentences as needed, and using a subject and a verb in each sentence. Punctuation is slightly different in Spanish compared to English, and Spanish employes accent marks whereas English does not.

Institutional/Course Policy

This course requires engagement with the material on a constant basis. Additional personal study time will be necessary for most students depending on experience with Spanish language learning. Attendance and participation are essential. Students are encouraged to be diligent in completing all study materials, assignments, practice exercises, and exams. Work turned in late will bear a penalty. Blackboard will track all your submissions with time and date. A 10% penalty will be applied to work submitted within one week of the due date. A 20% penalty will be applied to work submitted within two weeks of the due date. Work submitted more than two weeks after the due date may not be accepted until a student notifies the instructors of extenuating circumstances and requests an extension.

Use of Accents and Correct Spelling

The activities and the quizzes/exams require precision. The accents should be correct and spelling accurate. Rules for capitalization are about the same in Spanish and English but there are some interesting distinctions. Be sure to read my handout on accenting in Blackboard before you attempt any exercises. Accent marks do not exist in the English language but are very important in terms of correct, traditional, academic Spanish. I will grade accenting more severely as the course progresses.

BLACKBOARD

This course is delivered online through the Lumen course itself. Handouts, the syllabus, and the grade book for the course will also be available to you via Blackboard. Your grades will be posted to the Blackboard grade book at the end of each module. I may make changes in the grade book to reflect additional credit from time to time. Additional changes may be made to ensure fairness in grading.

Alternate Operations During Campus Closure and/or Alternate Course Delivery Requirements

In the event of an emergency or announced campus closure due to a natural disaster or pandemic, it may be necessary for Northeast Texas Community College to move to altered operations. During this time, Northeast Texas Community College may opt to continue delivery of instruction through methods that include but are not limited to online through the Blackboard Learning Management System, online conferencing, email messaging, and/or an alternate schedule. It is the responsibility of the student to monitor NTCC's website (<http://www.ntcc.edu/>) for instructions about continuing courses remotely, Blackboard for each class for course-specific communication, and NTCC email for important general information.

Statement Regarding the Use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) Technology

Absent a clear statement from a course instructor, use of or consultation with generative AI shall be treated analogously to assistance from another person (collusion). Generative AI is a subset of AI that utilizes machine learning models to create new, original content, such as images, text, or music, based on patterns and structures learned from existing data (Cornell, Center for Teaching Innovation). Unauthorized use of generative AI tools to complete an assignment or exam is not permitted. Students should acknowledge the use of generative AI and default to disclosing such assistance when in doubt. Individual course instructors may set their own policies regulating the use of generative AI tools in their courses, including allowing or disallowing some or all uses of such tools. Students who are unsure of policies regarding generative AI tools are encouraged to ask their instructors for clarification. Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education. FERPA gives parents certain rights with respect to their children's educational records. These rights transfer to the student when he or she attends a school beyond the high school level. Students to whom the rights have transferred are considered "eligible students." In essence, a parent has no legal right to obtain information concerning the child's college records without the written consent of the student. In compliance with FERPA, information classified as "directory information" may be released to the general public without the written consent of the student unless the student makes a request in writing. Directory information is defined as the student's name, permanent address and/or local address, telephone listing, dates of attendance, most recent previous education institution attended, and other information including the major, field of study, degrees, awards received, and participation in officially recognized activities/sports.
