Assignments & Research

Assignments are due on the date called for by the instructor. These include selected reading materials, practicing skills, preparing for group discussions, written and oral preparation of speeches, etc. When research is required for a speech it must be verbally documented, and must appear on the TYPED outline. Oral plagiarism is just as serious of an infraction as written plagiarism, and will result in a failing grade. No more than 10% of any speech may be directly quoted from another source.

Attire

Students are expected to dress up for presentations, slightly more than they normally do to attend classes.

NTCC upholds the highest standards of academic integrity. The college expects all students to engage in their academic pursuits in an honest manner that is beyond reproach using their intellect and resources designated as allowable by the course instructor. Students are responsible for addressing questions about allowable resources with the course instructor. Academic dishonesty such as cheating, plagiarism, and collusion is unacceptable and may result in disciplinary action. Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA):

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education. FERPA gives parents certain rights with respect to their children's educational records. These rights transfer to the student when he or she attends a school beyond the high school level. Students to whom the rights have transferred are considered "eligible students." In essence, a parent has no legal right to obtain information concerning the child's college records without the written consent of the student. In compliance with FERPA, information classified as "directory information" may be released to the general public without the written consent of the student unless the student makes a request in writing. Directory information is defined as: the student's name, permanent address and/or local address, telephone listing, dates of attendance, most recent previous education institution attended, other information including major, field of study, degrees, awards received, and participation in officially recognized activities/sports.

Tentative Course Timeline (note instructor reserves the right to make adjustments to this timeline at any point in the term):

Assignments: Read the assigned Ebook chapters in Public Speaking for College & Career, 12TH edition by Hamilton Gregory in each week's folder. You are required to watch video clips, read supplementary articles and complete assignments found in the chapter folder. These resources are your major source of instruction in this course. WE will discuss the items covered in class. As you click on the folder for any certain weeks's assignments, you may be taken to the McGraw Hill CONNECT website to view supplemental resources or complete assignments. After you have completed them, you will automatically be taken back to NTCC Blackboard. You are provided with printable transcripts for all CONNECT video clips.

Speeches: You will have one introduction speech and three formal speeches in this course. (You are given ample time to complete these speech assignments once they are assigned.) These are explained in detail on a separate document and will be discussed in class thoroughly. Each of these speeches will be presented through the video application included with the course. You will be required to turn in a written outline for EACH speech.

Outlines: Each speech will require an OUTLINE which you will turn in to the instructor when the speech is due. This outline is what you use to build your speech and organize your ideas. You will use the OUTLINE TUTOR found in the Chapter 12 folder on the homepage to create your outlines. You will never type out your speeches in paragraph form in this course. We use an outline or notecards only. You will learn how to do this by reading the E-book Chapter 12 on OUTLINING THE SPEECH and completing the learning activities for this chapter. Chapters 10, 11 and 5 will also reinforce your understanding of the outlines.
