

	Chris T. McAllister, Ph.D. Office: UHS 163 Phone: 903-434-8286 Email: cmcallister@ntcc.edu
	“Northeast Texas Community College exists to provide personal, dynamic learning experiences empowering students to succeed.”

Education:

Institution	Major/Areas	Degree	Year(s)
University of Arkansas at Little Rock	Biology	B.S.	1978
Arkansas St. University	Biology	M.S.	1981
University of North Texas	Biology	Ph.D.	1989
VA Medical Center, Dallas	Internal Medicine	Postdoctoral Fellowship	1990-2005

Teaching Experience:

Institution	Year(s)
Angelo State University, Texas	2005-2006
Chadron State College, Nebraska	2006-2008
Eastern Oklahoma State College, Oklahoma	2010-2023

Courses Taught at NTCC (last 3 years):

Biology 1406 Lecture & Lab (Honors)
Biology 1408 Lecture & Lab
Biology 1408 (online)

Significant Professional Publications/Presentations (last 3 years):

McAllister, C. T., and J. A. Hnida. 2023. A new eimerian (Apicomplexa: Eimeriidae) from eastern mole, Scalopus aquaticus (Mammalia: Eulipotyphla: Talpidae), in central Arkansas, with additional information on Caryospora yatesi McAllister, Motriuk-Smith, and Kerr. Journal of Parasitology 109:21-26.
McAllister, C. T., D. G. Cloutman, E. M. Leis, A. C. Camus, and H. W. Robison. 2022. A new Myxobolus (Cnidaria: Myxosporaea: Myxobolidae) from the gills of the southern striped shiner, Luxilus chrysocephalus isolepis (Cypriniformes: Leuciscidae), from southwestern Arkansas, USA. Systematic Parasitology https://doi.org/10.1007/s11230-023-10082-8
McAllister, C. T., and J. A. Hnida. 2022. A new Isospora (Apicomplexa: Eimeriidae) from the Dark-Eyed Junco, Junco hyemalis (L.) (Passeriformes: Passerellidae), in West-Central Arkansas, USA. Acta Parasitologica 68:208-212.